

Hello Technology Leadership Initiative Recruitment Team,

My name is Simon Chen and as I understand that you are looking for students who possesses curiosity, grit, and agility, and I believe that I am an exceptional candidate for your program. As a highly self-motivated individual, I demonstrate a willingness to learn, adapt, and take initiative to improve from the environment and people around me. These qualities can be demonstrated through my participation in extracurricular events like hackathons, through my hard work and dedication in the personal projects which learn new technologies from and constantly improve on, and through my initiative in networking with others by never being afraid to be the first to make contact. Most importantly, I carry with me a mindset that there are always things left to learn, allowing me to keep an open mind whether I am speaking to a seasoned professional or a beginner in my field. This mindset, complimented by my motivation and drive to learn, is what I hope to bring to the internships, people, and courses I will interact with and be a part of throughout the Technology Leadership Initiative. Over the course of the program, I hope to learn a lot, adapt from my environments, and continue moving forth with my best foot forward for the success of myself and my peers around me. I hope you will consider me for a position in your cohort and look forward to hearing back.

Sincerely, Simon Chen

UofT ID: 1007181737

Email: simonsc.chen@mail.utoronto.ca